INCREASE IN CANADA'S ARMED UNITS FORECAST

Major Step—Up Is Expected To Be In Air Force Personnel

Requirements Of Industry Stand High In Current Cabinet Deliberations—Decision On War Priorities Office Pending

By R. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—Decision on new war production priorities office to manage production problems in the Canadian war effort was still pending today, while Hon. C. D. Howe and Hon. J. L. Ralston continued conferences with their cabinet colleagues on their missions to Britain. The war committee of cabinet was in session during the morning, and a full cabinet meeting was slated for the afternoon.

Signs pointed to the cabinet meeting as one of the historic sessions for Canadian government, for decisions were pending on a series of vital war problems, as follows:

1—Will Canada expand its land army?
2—Will Canada expand its air force?
3—What measures will be taken in the field of war production?

The extent to which Canada undertakes to overhaul its war effort will depend on the answers to questions like this. The belief has been widely held that Britain does not need any more troops from Canada at this stage, and a hint that more troops would go overseas was given by Mr. Howe in Washington last Saturday. So far this is not confirmed.

A recent estimate made by the inter-departmental committee on mobilization forecast additions of 17,500 men to the armed forces in 1941, comprising 5,000 in navy, 8,000 army and 4,500 air force. There is some sign now that this estimate is too low.

But the demand for air of 50,000 men, voiced by Col. George Grey, Ontario Conservative leader, is not expected to be met. This continued on Page 2, Col. 5.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(UPI)—The name of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, Mussolini's commander-in-chief in Libya, today was reported added to the longening list of Italian leaders who have lost their posts and reputations as a result of the Italian failure around the Mediterranean.

The report broadcast from Ankara, indicated that Graziani was not expected to be met. This continued on Page 2, Col. 6.

Smashing Raid Is Made On Elbasani By R.A.F. Bombers
ATHENS, Jan. 28.—(UPI)—A smashing raid on Italy's central Albanian base at Elbasani, was announced by the British air command today while the Greeks said they had forced the Italian back after a week of bitter fighting.

With the British first command, the Atlantic and eight new American naval bases being established along the eastern seaboard, the navy believes Canada is in danger from air attack? Naval attack? Land attack? A combination of all three? Or is Canada not immediately threatened?

The first question was simply this: "With the British first command, the Atlantic and eight new American naval bases being established along the eastern seaboard, the navy believes Canada is in danger from air attack? Naval attack? Land attack? A combination of all three? Or is Canada not immediately threatened?"

Twenty-one officers, ranging from major to lieutenant, were reported to have been killed in the attack.

Democracies Cannot Win Unless Aid Bill Passed: Morgenthau

British Orders For 2,000 Fighting Planes Now Being Held Back For Lack Of Cash, Is Disclosure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, United States army chief of staff, expressed belief today that Great Britain could defeat Germany with the aid which the United States would give under the British-aid bill now before Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau bluntly told the United States Senate foreign relations committee today that Great Britain, Greece and China "can't continue to fight" unless Congress passes the administration's British-aid bill.

Testifying that the British government had exhausted its dollar exchange for buying war supplies, the treasury secretary said that British orders for 2,000 fighting planes now are being held up for lack of cash.

He said also, during questioning, that "mentally" he had charged off "some time ago" Britain's ability to fight the first Great War to the United States.

"RESTS WITH CONGRESS" Morgenthau said Britain had plied before the treasury the "hard fact" that they were running out of money to pay for additional orders. He said it was up to Congress to decide whether they should be able to do so.

"If this bill doesn't pass, Congress," he added, "they won't continue to fight. The decision rests with congress, whether Great Britain, China and Greece are to continue to fight."

Morgenthau replied in the affirmative when asked by Senator Connally (Dem., Texas) whether it was not true that "this is a matter of life or death" to the United States. He said that Britain had said "hard fact" for all war materials to die.

"As a matter of fact," Connally added, "it is a matter of life or death to the United States." Morgenthau replied that he was not sure of that.

Forces Strike At Italians At Fezzan Basis In Southwest

Troops From Chad Region Of Equatorial Africa Start New Drive Against Fascists In Interior Of Libya

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 28.—(AP)—An Italian garrison has been driven from the important Fezzan oasis in southwestern Libya by Free French forces from the Chad region in Equatorial Africa, Gen. Georges Catroux reported by radio tonight.

This means a new drive against the Italians in the interior of Libya, in conjunction with the British offensives along the Mediterranean coast in northern Libya and in East Africa.

French columns, said the Free French command, are Gen. Charles De Gaulle, said a French combat detachment made the sudden dash down into the Libya interior and caught the Italians unawares.

An Italian general was reported today to have surrendered personally to a British cavalry officer. British forces, charging with fixed bayonets down a hillside, pushed beyond Kert towards Agadai in Italian Libya.

On this front the middle east command announced today an additional 12,000 troops had been captured, making a total of more than 120,000 taken to date.

Neither the identity of the general nor the size of his command was disclosed in reports from Cairo. African war theatre, but 700 were taken in this one charge.

CONCENTRATE AT DESNA "While operations in the Agadai-Berzou area are progressing satisfactorily," the headquarters communiqué said, "the British are concentrating at Desna, a town in Italian Libya, retreating from Tunis Regat."

In North Africa, the British command announced, "the offensive in the desert area in the Desert area is continuing."

Reports Sunday said Kert had been captured, and the British were moving air support toward Agadai. Kert is about 10 miles from the oasis. The British are now moving the British forces are now closing in on the oasis.

SCOTS INDIANS IN DRIVE The British forces making this thrust are identified as a noted Scottish regiment and an Indian regiment.

What started as an orderly withdrawal by the Italians from the Sudanese frontier region, military reports say, has now become a hurried retreat. The Italian blocked the narrow road toward Kert with mines, these sources said, but Italian sappers forced their way through in one fourth the time estimated necessary.

Italian prisoners are quoted as saying they were "driven out of the oasis, but their words were not taken into account."

Then at 9:30 p.m. C.S.T. the signal and the British forces were reported to be pushing only "unidentified" into the desert.

A message picked up by the troops said the British were last night the oasis had been captured and was being shifted off the west coast of Africa.

The message said the force was down by the oasis, but their words were not taken into account.

Young Army Officers Think Canada May Be In Danger Of Air Attack

89 of a Class of 109 Consider Long Range German Bombing Attacks On Canada Feasible

Following is the second in a series of articles dealing with Canada's military position in the war. All material in these articles is based on answers to a questionnaire submitted to 109 junior Canadian officers through co-operation of commanding officers in a central Canadian military district.—EDITOR.

By JAMES A. MACLEAN
MILITARY DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS "Somewhere in Canada," Jan. 28.—(UPI)—Canada is in danger of air attack—by Hitler's bombers. That, at least, is the opinion of 89 of a class of 109 young Canadian army officers from all parts of the Dominion, interrogated here through co-operation of their commanding officers.

They came from all parts of the Dominion, and they are handed under regiments bearing Saskatchewan, Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta "tags." At them was fired a series of questions dealing with the possibility of a Nazi attack on North America.

The first question was simply this: "With the British first command, the Atlantic and eight new American naval bases being established along the eastern seaboard, the navy believes Canada is in danger from air attack? Naval attack? Land attack? A combination of all three? Or is Canada not immediately threatened?"

Today's War Moves

Leading ministers of the British cabinet, including Mr. MacDonald, Count Ciano, who have left their posts to engage in active service at the front, apparently are acting under deep emotional stress which now seems to be spreading throughout Italy. It is unprecedented and unnatural for such action to occur in a first-class power.

These moves are all due to the administration of national affairs, which they should abandon their posts to engage in active service at the front, apparently are acting under deep emotional stress which now seems to be spreading throughout Italy.

One possible reason for abandoning their ministerial work is a disagreement with the new Fascist policies. They may not approve of the abolition of Germany's army and instead of offering their formal resignations they may have taken

Anti-Aircraft Cannon Go Into Action Following Long Respite

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(UPI)—High explosive and fire bombs fell on London today, bringing back death and destruction in this capital whose air raid sirens had been silent since a daylight attack last Thursday.

Just before the fourth alarm of the day ended in late afternoon, anti-aircraft guns went into action against a plane dropping high over the city, but of night above low-hanging clouds.

One woman, caught in the streets, was killed, and a child was injured in a residential area, was killed. Casualties among the houses, but no other serious casualties were reported.

America Told Not To Challenge Japan By Aid To Britain

TOKYO, Jan. 28.—(AP)—News papers with increasing ferocity today again "challenged" America by upping its program of domination in the Far East or by extending too much aid to Great Britain.

EXTRAORDINARY MOVE
Especially it is extraordinary that Count Ciano should have left his home in Rome for any reason today to become a war aviator. With Italy in her present plight, it might be said, a flying car would be a most desirable possession for him. But he has been seen in the air only once before, in the case of a combat flyer but he is intimately familiar with the air and the international complications which he has generated. His sudden flight from Rome may have some relationship with German efforts to force Axis foreign policies under the direction of Berlin.

Ducks Changed Their Ways

WILD ducks heading south on their annual migration last fall left a lot of hunters with empty bags in the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin and the boys who waited in their blinds for ducks that never showed up demanded an explanation from Tom Mann of Winnipeg, general manager of Ducks Unlimited. Main inquiries and questions were made by the boys who waited in their blinds for ducks that never showed up.

Reports on last fall's migration were received from some 2,400 experienced observers by Ducks Unlimited and a summary of them has just been released.

This summary shows an increase in the continental duck population of 18.7 per cent in 1940—approximately 11,000,000 more than in 1939. It also shows that the main route of the southern migration was down the Mackenzie river system, over Alberta, then southward across Montana and Wyoming, from where they fanned out to their usual southern quarters. This change is believed due largely to poor water conditions in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Another interesting discovery is that the bluebirds seem to have blazed out a new migration route from the Canadian north-west across northern Saskatchewan, central and eastern Manitoba, through western Ontario to the Great Lakes and then on to the Atlantic coast. The old route of this species was down the Red River through Minnesota and the Dakotas. It is believed that dual bird conditions along the old route forced the bluebirds to pick a more westerly route.

Reasons for the amazing increase of 11,000,000 ducks in 1940 are given by Mann as: 1. Better conservation work by both Canada and U.S. governments. 2. Restoration and improvement of 800,000 acres of breeding grounds by 14 Ducks Unlimited projects. One of these projects called 125,000 ducks on an area where 100,000 were previously lost through drought. 3. Curbing of illegal slaughter in the U.S. and reduction of bag limits to a reasonable figure. 4. Development of conservation interest among countries generally in both sides of the border.

Another oddity that has been noted in the north central states was the blizzard of Nov. 19 and 20 that raged there. This was just at the time the ducks were due from the north and they seem to have ridden right over the storm without stopping.

Roundup Up This And That

TONIGHT'S National Hockey League fight between Boston and Chicago holds a lot of unusual interest. Bruins have a string of 13 wins without a defeat that they are trying to build into an all-time record. Chicago has Sammy Lee Pratt in goal who has lost only one game in the eight N.H.L. encounters he has been in since being called up from St. Paul. Canadians inflicted their defeat in Sammy. Boston has got six straight wins for seven more games to catch the record set by the Bruins.

Right here in Edmonton will have a hockey game of our own tonight that will be interesting to watch the result of. In the Midwest section of the Federation of Community Leagues hockey system, two undefeated and undefeated teams, the Edmonton Bruins, will square at the Rink at 8:00 p.m. Each team has also scored three shutouts to date.

LOCK UP MY HEART

CAMILLA DENTON, a temporary patient at the hospital, was waiting for the doctor to come. She was sitting on the edge of the bed, looking at the clock. The door opened and a nurse came in. "The doctor is waiting for you," she said. Camilla got up and went to the doctor's office. The doctor looked at her and said, "You're looking better. How do you feel?" "I feel fine," she said. The doctor smiled and said, "You're a brave girl. You'll be home soon."

LAST CHANCE MAKE PAYMENT INCOME LEVY

Zero Hour On Instalment
System Tax Payments
On Friday

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Zero hour will come Friday for Canadians desiring to take advantage of the privilege of paying in eight monthly instalments, without interest charge on arrears, whatever the tax income of each has ever been.

If at the close of business Jan. 27, taxpayers have still in at least 112th of the total tax payable on 1940 income, and he maintains the monthly instalments, he will receive a complete bill by August 31, the interest charge applied to those delinquent after April 30 will not be applied.

RUSH TO PAY

Throughout the Dominion there has been a rush to take advantage of this arrangement, a backlog of bills is being cleared up.

The instalment arrangement, announced by the government last year, has three main advantages. It provides Canada with cash with considerable rise in the interest rate, and it provides a buffer system for the government to lighten the burden by spreading the total over a long period.

The monthly instalments required by the act must be paid in full by June 30, 1941, and each instalment must be paid within 15 days of the date it is due.

FIGHT INSTALMENTS

An alternative plan is to pay in eight equal instalments. The first instalment must be paid by June 30, 1941, and each instalment must be paid within 15 days of the date it is due.

If this provision is not complied with, the taxpayers will be subject to the normal penalty provided for those who are delinquent in payment after April 30.

Instalment payments may be made in advance of the date when the detailed income tax return form, which is equal to the tax, is due.

Remittance forms for instalments have been made available at all post offices and at other points. These enable the taxpayer to indicate what portion of the instalment is to be applied to federal income, and to provincial income.

The federal income tax branch, which is under the supervision of the Minister of Finance, is responsible for the collection of the instalments.

AXIS ALLIANCE

MISCALCULATED IS N. Y. VIEW

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(CP)—The New York Times said editorially today that Mussolini's "great miscalculation" consisted in thinking he had been able to force Italy to fight the war.

The newspaper said that even had Italy been warlike, it would have been ill-equipped for war, and that Mussolini was deluded by the idea that the same "fatale error" France made when she attacked Italy was the one thought that was over.

The Wartime Prices And Trade Board

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—As the industrial plant of Canada enters its peak production—forecast by cabinet ministers as likely by July—the danger of a rise in prices will become more real. The chief agent set up by the government to prevent this is the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

This board was created one week before Canada entered the war. Its purpose was to deal with the problem of the lives of all Canadians. Every person in this country, excepting the labour market, has been made a temporary killing unit in the war. The war has made it necessary for the government to take steps to prevent the price of everything except what he produces in his own home from rising. This has been done by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

LORD HALIFAX MAY SPEAK ON BRITISH AIMS

No Secret War Treaties,
Envoy Says—Must Win War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Viscount Halifax, new British ambassador, said Monday night that Britain has no secret treaties for territorial distribution after the war.

The ambassador made this statement to reporters at a press conference shortly after senators Gerald R. Ford and William F. Buckley Jr. (Rep.-N.Y.) and Senator Wheeler (Dem.-Mont.) had introduced a resolution calling on the government to make known their war aims, and to disclose whether there were any secret treaties for the division of territorial spoils.

Lord Halifax indicated he may soon speak about British war aims. "I may get an opportunity soon of expressing my views in public on this subject," he said.

He said, however, he said "my first war aim is to win the war, and our main peace aim is, with victory, to reconstruct the world so as not to have another war."

Asserting that Britons would not be fighting as they are "unless they thought they were fighting for democracy," Lord Halifax disclosed a general feeling he had with Hitler in 1937.

He said, however, he said "my first war aim is to win the war, and our main peace aim is, with victory, to reconstruct the world so as not to have another war."
